

Environmental policy

The environmental policy of Ecoprint determines the basis of environment-related activities of the company. The environmental policy of Ecoprint is compliant with the EVS-EN ISO 14001:2004 standard.

Ecoprint:

- follows the legal acts and norms of the Republic of Estonia regulating the activities, products and services of companies;
- diminishes the environmental effect arising from its activities;
- avoids and diminishes pollution to the environment and prevents the danger of pollution;
- implements the environmental management system compliant with EVS-EN ISO 14001:2004 standard;
- provides for the efficiency and constant improvement in the environmental management system;
- provides for the resources necessary for the environmental management;
- chooses the economically reasonable and environment-friendly solution from all the new technologies, equipments or materials;
- employs the means of cleaner production;
- employs the means of sustainable product development;
- forwards the environmental information characterizing the company to the respective offices, local citizens and other interest groups;
- promotes environmentalism to interest groups outside the company.
-

Following the company's environmental policy is compulsory to all the employees.

The environmental policy is periodically evaluated in the course of internal audits and inspections by the board of management. The environmental policy of Ecoprint is public and available to all interested parties.

The management system of Ecoprint is compliant with EVS-EN ISO 9001:2008 and EVS-EN ISO 14001:2004 standards. It helps to achieve the fulfillment of certain goals and all the employees and the board of AS Triip plan their daily activities and make decisions based on it. The board of Ecoprint works on constant development and analyzes the effectiveness of the management system. The management system as a whole is viewed twice a year by the board of Ecoprint in course of planned management system reviews.

Every year, Ecoprint publishes a company-based environmental report composed by independent experts, including the ecological footprint measurement results.

We are convinced that quality is an inevitable premise to achieve the continuous and longlasting success of our company.

We follow these principles:

- we provide services and develop products according to the expectations and needs of our customers;
- we listen to our customers and take their wishes into account;
- we advise our customers in order to achieve more optimal and higher quality print jobs;
- we train our employees and engage them in the developing processes of the company and products;
- we take highly appreciate work-related feedback from our customers and take it into account;
- we are guided by the quality management system ISO 9001;
- in order to achieve customer satisfaction and business goals of our company, we are familiar with technological innovations